

Minnesota Public Health Association

MPHA: the independent voice of public health in Minnesota for over 100 years!

Our mission is to engage and develop our members to mobilize the community to protect and improve the public's health.

If you are interested in joining or learning more about MPHA, please visit our Web site at: <http://www.mpha.net>

or contact us at:

MPHA

P.O. Box 14709

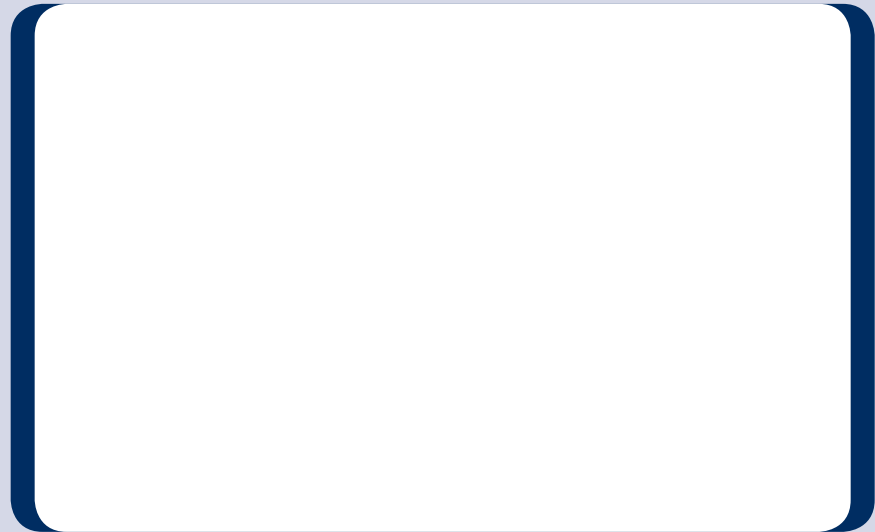

Minneapolis, MN 55414

Email: mphacommunications@comcast.net

Minnesota Public Health Association

MPHA: the independent voice of public health in Minnesota for over 100 years!

Our mission is to engage and develop our members to mobilize the community to protect and improve the public's health.

If you are interested in joining or learning more about MPHA, please visit our Web site at: <http://www.mpha.net>

or contact us at:

MPHA

P.O. Box 14709

Minneapolis, MN 55414

Email: mphacommunications@comcast.net

*MPHA: the independent voice of public health
in Minnesota for over 100 years!*

Who are we?

The Minnesota Public Health Association (MPHA) is a volunteer run, professional association for people engaged in promoting and protecting the public's health. We are an affiliate of the American Public Health Association (APHA), and have been around since 1907. Our membership is diverse in background, geography and expertise. We work in many sectors, and our members range in experience from students to retirees.

Why join?

Members tell us that they benefit from MPHA in four key ways.

Educational and Professional Development

"MPHA's annual conference is a good way to find out what colleagues are up to in other parts of the state. The policy forums are timely and thoughtfully address important public health topics."

Metro MPHA member

Networking

"After graduate school, I lost track of many of the friends I'd made. Through MPHA, I've been able to get back in touch with some of them, and have connected with new colleagues as well."

U of M, SPH Grad

Advocacy and Leadership

"I can't use my job to speak out on politically-charged public health issues – and let's face it - that's all of them! MPHA provides an outlet for advocacy, making it easy for me to be involved. The policy committee saves me time by keeping track of health related issues going through the Legislature each year."

State employee

Involvement

"For a long time, just having 'MPHA member' on my resume was worth the annual fee, but getting involved with a committee has been rewarding and has given me experience that helps my career."

Governing council member

*MPHA: the independent voice of public health
in Minnesota for over 100 years!*

Who are we?

The Minnesota Public Health Association (MPHA) is a volunteer run, professional association for people engaged in promoting and protecting the public's health. We are an affiliate of the American Public Health Association (APHA), and have been around since 1907. Our membership is diverse in background, geography and expertise. We work in many sectors, and our members range in experience from students to retirees.

Why join?

Members tell us that they benefit from MPHA in four key ways.

Educational and Professional Development

"MPHA's annual conference is a good way to find out what colleagues are up to in other parts of the state. The policy forums are timely and thoughtfully address important public health topics."

Metro MPHA member

Networking

"After graduate school, I lost track of many of the friends I'd made. Through MPHA, I've been able to get back in touch with some of them, and have connected with new colleagues as well."

U of M, SPH Grad

Advocacy and Leadership

"I can't use my job to speak out on politically-charged public health issues – and let's face it - that's all of them! MPHA provides an outlet for advocacy, making it easy for me to be involved. The policy committee saves me time by keeping track of health related issues going through the Legislature each year."

State employee

Involvement

"For a long time, just having 'MPHA member' on my resume was worth the annual fee, but getting involved with a committee has been rewarding and has given me experience that helps my career."

Governing council member